2.1 Sexual rights – sexual education

Previous year was marked with expectations regarding introduction of health education programs into schools by the Ministry of Science, Education and Sport (MZOŠ). These expectations were even more intense due to the fact that programs of association GROZD include problematic parts about human sexuality.

Ministry of Science, Education and Sport has at the end of 2006 chosen health education programs for elementary and high schools through public application process. These programs were to be implemented in approximately 10 schools in Croatia.

As a reaction to these decisions, Citizens Coalition: Stop High-Risk Sexual Education was formed at the beginning of 2007. This coalition is comprised of associations, NGO networks and citizens, with the following goals: to prevent the experimental implementation of contents related to human sexuality within the health education program, to affect the implementation of an unsuccessful public policy of reproductive and sexual health and rights of the Government of Croatia and to ensure the implementation of a single standardized education program on human sexuality based on scientific facts and in accordance to international conventions and treaties. Coalition has undertaken numerous activities in order to influence the Government of Croatia and the general public to stop this process.

Despite that, Ministry of Health and Social Welfare gave approval for programs to enter schools, after modification of questionable parts – which is currently happening. The fact remains that programs of the association GROZD emphasize the value system that is unacceptable in current times (for example gaining the habit of entering relationships with superficial and wrong motives, one loses the ability to establish a relationship based on deeper and real motives; sexual activity achieves its real sense in marriage), some parts are scientifically questionable (for example develop the ability to control one's sexual excitement and the capability to overcome the possible habit of masturbation), harmful for the health of youth (promoting natural methods for conception planning) and discriminatory (not married persons, one parent families and sexual and gender minorities).

2.2 Sexual violence

Sexual violence is one of dominant forms of gender-based violence¹, and it can be defined as „any sexual act, attempt to obtain a sexual act, unwanted sexual comments or advances directed against a person's sexuality using coercion, by any person regardless of their relationship to the victim, in any setting. It is characterized by use of force, threat or blackmail threatening for well-being and/or life of the person or persons close to them.”²

¹ Gender-based violence refers to forms of violence where in most cases the perpetrator is a man and the victim is a woman. For this purpose, in this text, „perpetrator“ is not written in two genders but only in male gender.

² World Health Organization, (2002) World report on violence and health, Geneva, WHO

When it comes to data on prevalence of sexual violence, there are still significant differences between cases that are reported to the police, and ones indicated by research and direct work of nongovernmental organizations.

According to the official data of the Ministry of Internal Affairs for 2007, there were a total of 677 reported criminal offences against freedom and morality (Croatian Penal Code, Chapter 14). Similarly to previous years, the most frequent types of criminal offences were sexual assaults (Art. 193) – total of 235 reported cases and rapes (Art. 188) – 114 victims.

When comparing it with data from 2006, we notice a significant increase in some offences and a decrease in some other ones. There is a slight increase of 0.7 % in the overall number of reported criminal offences related to sexual violence.

INCREASE	DECREASE
Art. 195 Pandering: 34.3 %	Art. 189 Sexual Intercourse with a helpless person: - 60 %
Art. 196 Criminal act of abuse of children or juveniles in pornography: 77.8 %	Art. 191 Sexual intercourse by abuse of position: - 50 %
Art. 197 Introducing pornography to children: 146.2 %	Art. 197A Child Pornography on Computer System or Network: - 61.1%
Art. 178 International prostitution*: 1300 %	Art. 198 Incest: - 33.3 %
*Although it does not fall under Chapter 14 of the Croatian Penal Code, it is closely connected to sexual violence.

There have been 114 reported cases for criminal act of rape in 2007, 105 victims were women and 9 were men. In relation to 2006, there has been decrease of reported cases for -9.5%, or 14.6% for raping women. A specific fact for cases reported in 2007 is increased number of cases reported by men, and this is the first time that this number is so high. Out of these 9 men that reported rape, five of them are minors between 14 and 18 years, three are 18 to 22 years old and one is between 22 and 26 years old.

Number of cases reported to the Ministry of Interior Affairs must be analyzed with conscience about existence of high proportion of hidden numbers, due to the fact that numerous international and domestic³ researches indicates that for every reported case of rape, there are between 15 and 20 unreported ones. Proportion of hidden numbers is even higher for less severe sexual violence criminal offences. Low number of reported cases is influenced by a number of factors, the most influential being the ones related to society that tolerates sexual violence to a great extent, is always ready to accuse victim of sexual violence for survived experience and does not have mechanisms of assistance and support in place for victims of sexual violence.

Research data indicates much higher numbers as well as wider range of types of violence, primarily sexual harassment. According to data from research conducted among high school youth⁴, more than two-thirds of young people said they experienced that a person they are having a relationship with acted violent toward them, while less than half of them reported that they used violent behavior toward their partner at least once. 7% of youth (8% of girls and 5% of boys) experienced urging into sexual activity they were not ready for, 4% of youth (3% of girls and 5% of boys) experienced their partner telling them s/he would leave them if they do not agree to engage into sexual activity, and 3% of youth (2% of girls and 5% of boys) experienced coercion into sexual acts. Research conducted with student population⁵ indicates that unwanted sexual comments and vulgar propositions were experienced by 40% female students and 14% male students of the University of Zagreb. 19% of female students and 3% of male students experienced unwanted and coercive physical touching.

³ Research conducted by Women's Room Status of Women's Sexual Rights (2005) on representational sample of 1491 women from the entire Croatia shows that 17% of women experienced attempt of rape or rape, out of which only 5% reported the violence to the police and/or State Attorney's Office.

⁴ CESI – Center for Education, Counseling and Research, Violence will not pass by itself: Research report regarding gender based violence in adolescent relationships in Croatia, 2007.

In regards to severe types of sexual violence, sexual activities by extortion and blackmail was experienced by 3% of students while 3% of them are not sure if they could name their experience as such. Attempt of rape and rape was experienced by 5.7% female students and 2.3% male students⁶.

Previous research⁷ on women's sexual rights found that sexual activities through extortion and blackmail was experienced by 9% of women, attempt of rape 13% and rape 4%. Such data is comparable to international research conducted in this area. In regards to violence perpetrators, in 4% of cases the perpetrator was partner, in 12% of cases it was a family member, friend or acquaintance in 51% of cases, higher positioned person at work in 34% cases and unknown person in 67% of cases. It is interesting to stress an alarming fact: the more severe the type of violence is, it is more likely that the perpetrator is close or a known person, while for example in cases of sexual harassment the perpetrator in the most cases is unknown person.

Unfortunately, during 2007, despite numerous attempts, primarily by nongovernmental organizations, systematic protection of victims of sexual violence has not been ensured in Croatia. These specialized services should provide necessary services: from accompanying persons during the process of reporting violence, offering psychotherapy free-of-charge, to preparation for court process and work with families. Similarly, programs for work with perpetrators of sexual violence have not been developed. There is evident low level of knowledge and sensibilization by representatives of relevant professions for issues of sexual violence.

Positive changes took place in 2007 and they include establishing Working group for developing analysis and plan of action for combating all forms of violence against women by Office for Gender Equality of the Republic of Croatia (more about this can be found in Chapter 3 of this report – Work of Women's Room in 2007, section 5 - Public work, networking and lobbying). One of the mandates of this Working group is development of the Code of Conduct in Cases of Sexual Violence, which has not been finalized yet but is in the final stage of development. Code of Conduct should ensure unified practice in regards to victims of sexual violence in the entire Croatia with clearly defined obligations and responsibilities of all relevant institutions towards victims of sexual violence. Each part of the Code of Conduct has been developed extremely carefully, thoroughly and in detail in order for the final document to be valid and valuable for each of the relevant professions, bodies and institutions and in order for its adoption to mark the first significant step in work with women who survived sexual violence.

During 2007, there was also increase in number of expert educations on sexual violence provided by nongovernmental organizations for experts working on issues of sexual violence and for general public. Numerous round tables and public forums were held that specifically dealt with sexual violence.

Apart from this, Women's Room has been systematically working on opening of the Center for victims of sexual violence, the first specialized Center for victims from the entire Croatia which will be realized at the beginning of 2008.

2.3 Trafficking in women

According to the official statistics of Croatian Government, during 2007 there have been 15 victims of trafficking, out of which there were 12 women, two men and one female child. In comparison to 2006 when number of identified victims was 13, number of cases in 2007 has slightly increased. There were 9 criminal offences pertaining to the Article 175 Trafficking in persons and slavery and 20 perpetrators were prosecuted for these offences. Another official shelter has been opened for adult victims of trafficking in persons, while the existing shelter became shelter for children. Protocol will be send during 2008 to Croatian Government for adoption.

In 2007, a new Protocol for identification and assistance and protection for victims of trafficking was compiled. Apart from recommendations for identification, assistance provision and protection for identified victims of trafficking, the Protocol regulates work of mobile task forces.

Office for Human Rights of the republic of Croatia, in cooperation with Ludwig Boltzmann Institute for Human Rights from Vienna is implementing project CARDS 2004 Twining Combating trafficking in persons. State Attorney's Office, Ministry of Justice, Ministry of Interior Affairs and Ministry of Health and Social Welfare are also involved in the project. Standardized operative procedures should be formulated during the project which will help strengthen and improve Croatian institutions in combating trafficking in human beings.

2.4 LGBTIQ rights (rights of sexual and gender minorities)

There were no significant improvements in the area of LGBTIQ rights during 2007. Violence has been on the increase and a high number of attacks on LGBTIQ persons has been recorded. US State Department report⁸ notes attacks on over 20 participants of the Zagreb Pride held on July 7, 2007. Despite the fact that 500 police officers were protecting 300 participants of the event, a group of younger people attempted to throw five to six Molotov cocktails on participants. Because of these attempts, police arrested a twenty-five year old person under hate crime charge. State Attorney's Office brought indictment in November. This is the first time that someone is accused of a hate crime ever since this type of crime was included into the Penal Code in July 2006.

LGBTIQ Coordination of Croatia⁹ got reestablished this year in order to promote work that strengthens and empowers LGBTIQ persons and movement in Croatia and works on providing support to LGBTIQ activism with the aim of exchange of information and resources, international support, and empowerment of groups, in particular smaller and new groups, consultation about activist initiatives and reacting to violation of human rights of LGBTIQ persons. 11 groups that work through different means on promotion, protection and affirmation of rights and identities of LGBTIQ persons are members of the Coordination.

Women's Room's work is organized around five main activities: education, research, counseling, publishing and advocacy, lobbying and networking. Below is the overview of main Women's Room's activities during 2007.

3.1 Education

Education has systematically been arising as a dominant part of Women's Room's work. Large amount of education delivered has come as an effect of numerous invitations from variety of nongovernmental organizations, professional associations and different governmental bodies.

Primary areas of education are

1. Sexual rights, women's sexuality, sex and gender;
2. Gender-based violence – violence against women;
3. Sexual violence including trafficking in persons for the purpose of sexual exploitation;
4. Sexual and gender minorities (LGBTIQ rights)
5. Other areas (organizational development, networking and similar).

Educational methods vary and are adjusted to the needs of target groups. Methods include lectures, workshops, trainings, round tables, public forums, supervisions, and consultations.

Primary target groups are:

1. Women;
2. Representatives of women's groups and nongovernmental organizations in Croatia and the region;
3. Representatives of relevant governmental institutions and bodies;
4. Youth – elementary school, high school and university students;
5. LGBTIQ population;
6. Society in general.

During 2007, members of Women's Room have delivered 64 lectures, workshops and/or trainings for representatives of nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), representatives of various governmental institutions and bodies, youth (elementary and high schools, universities), and the general public. Total number of participants at our lectures, workshops and trainings was 2.500.

When comparing educational work in 2007 and 2006, we noticed 22% increase in number of lectures, workshops and/or trainings and 48% increase in number of participants.

Sections below present the breakdown of educational work in terms of topics and participants.

3.1.1 Sexual rights, women's sexuality, sex and gender

There were 23 lectures, workshops and/or trainings delivered with a total of 1178 participants:

- ⊕ 19 for students of different universities (986 participants)
- ⊕ 2 for general public (44 participants)
- ⊕ 1 for representatives of nongovernmental organizations (28 participants)
- ⊕ 1 for representatives of governmental institutions and bodies (120 participants)

One of these educations was a multi-day training (Sexual rights, Sarajevo, Network of women's organizations from Bosnia and Herzegovina that are financially supported by Kvinna till Kvinna, 04.-06.05.2007.).

Because of the importance of these issues as well as the fact that Women's Room is one of rare organizations that deal with these topics, we expect increase of educational work in the future. We have also received, during 2007, numerous invitations to deliver specific workshops for women on «Women's sexuality» in 2008.

3.1.2 Gender-based violence

There were 3 educations delivered with a total of 64 participants: one lecture for nongovernmental organizations (12 participants), one lecture for general public (40 participants), and one three-day training for representatives of governmental bodies and institutions (12 participants).

Within the scope of this area, we cover numerous topics: from definition of gender based violence through forms and prevalence to mechanisms of protection and establishing and managing SOS phone lines and Counseling services.

3.1.3 Sexual violence including trafficking women for the purpose of sexual exploitation

Sexual violence

There were total of 33 lectures, workshops and/or trainings delivered with a total of 843 participants:

- ⊕ 12 for elementary and high school students (286 participants)
- ⊕ 5 for students of different universities (136 participants)
- ⊕ 5 for general public (131 participants)
- ⊕ 3 for representatives of nongovernmental organizations (32 participants)
- ⊕ 8 for representatives of governmental institutions and bodies (258 participants)

There were 4 multi-day trainings delivered: 3 for representatives of governmental bodies and institutions and 1 for representatives of nongovernmental organizations.

As the area of sexual violence is crucial in Women's Room's work, high amount of educational work comes as no surprise. Topics of education are definition of sexual violence, forms and prevalence, consequences, traumatization, rape trauma syndrome, direct victims' protection, legislative changes regarding sexual violence, Code of conduct in cases of sexual violence.

Within the scope of these educations, two meetings of the Network of cooperation between governmental institutions and nongovernmental organizations against sexual violence were held. Network has been working systematically since 1998 and involves more than 30 experts from different areas of work: police, health care, judicial system (state attorney's office, courts), educational system, mental health care protection. At this year's meetings we were actively working on the Code of conduct in cases of sexual violence.

Public lecture: Sexual violence

Premises of local self-government «A. Cesarec», Tkalčićeva 33, Zagreb, 18.12.2007.

Trafficking in women

There were total of 14 lectures, workshops and/or trainings delivered with a total of 259 participants:

- ⊕ 8 for elementary and high school students (174 participants)
- ⊕ 3 for representatives of governmental institutions and bodies (55 participants)
- ⊕ 3 for general public (30 participants)

There were 2 multi-day trainings delivered for representatives of governmental institutions and bodies. The new aspect of this work is that in 2007 we held first two-day training for police employees from Zagreb Police Administration. Training was held in a very positive working atmosphere and a need for further education and cooperation was identified.

Within the scope of the project dealing with education of students (Action against trafficking in persons – GiK), public action was held on Flowers' Square on 02.06.2007. – there was graffiti making, performance on trafficking in human beings and distribution of leaflets and other materials about trafficking in human beings.

Flowers' Square, Zagreb, 02.06.2007

3.1.4 Sexual and gender minorities (LGBTIQ rights)

There were 4 lectures, workshops and/or trainings delivered with a total of 99 participants:

- ⊕ 3 for representatives of nongovernmental organizations (58 participants)
- ⊕ 1 for students of different universities (41 participants)

Main topics of these educations were sexual and gender identities, transgender issues and intersexuality.

3.1.5 Other fields of education

There were 2 educations held, with 57 participants: six-day training about organizational development and networking for representatives of nongovernmental organizations from Georgia, Ossetia, Armenia and Azerbaijan (Istanbul, 12.-19.06.2007.), and lecture in the scope of round table for general public on activism and visibility.

3.1.6 Education of Women's Room's Team

Continuous systematic education of Women's Room's members is extremely important due to large amount of educations we deliver and for work on development and improvement of the existing educational models. During 2007, members of Women's Room participated in 17 specific, expert educations related to our everyday work.

3.2 Research

In the scope of Women's Room's work, important emphasis is placed on the implementation of scientific research for the purpose of acquiring better insight into issues related to Women's Room's fields of work, ensuring basic data required for our work but also for raising public awareness, as well as providing necessary data and information for lobbying for necessary changes in specific fields.

During 2007 two researches were conducted by Women's Room (continuation of the work from 2006):

3.2.1 Research on trafficking in human beings in Croatia

During 2006, Women's Room began work on an all-encompassing assessment of the situation relating to trafficking in persons in Croatia. Primary goals of the assessment were to:

1. Provide overview of the existing situation, as well as get insight into the work of the system for combating trafficking in persons and victims' assistance and protection in Republic of Croatia four years after it has been inception;
2. Provide insight into usefulness of educations of governmental employees and members of nongovernmental organizations on the topic of trafficking in persons as one of the prevention methods and capacity building for combating of this phenomenon;
3. Open space for further research about causes and prevalence of trafficking in persons in the Republic of Croatia;
4. Give recommendations for improvement of the existing system based on the results of the undertaken assessment.

The overview is divided into six parts. The first part addresses institutional capacities for combating trafficking in persons, the second one presents the analysis of victims of trafficking in Croatia from 2002 through May of 2006 based on official data of identified victims during this period. The third part provides analysis of knowledge and attitudes of youth as a vulnerable group about the problem of trafficking in persons. Following this is analysis of the benefits of educating members of institutions and nongovernmental organizations. The final part provides conclusions and recommendations for future work.

The assessment should have been published in May 2007, but due to numerous technical difficulties it has been delayed and is expected at the beginning of 2008.

3.2.2 Gender prism of sexual rights among youth

Research had two main goals:

1. To determine whether there is difference in gender perspective of youth towards sexual rights;
2. To use data as a starting point for development of education about sexual rights and sensibilization to gender relations in Croatia.

Research sample encompassed representative group of 852 students of third and fourth year at the University of Zagreb (459 female students and 389 male students). A questionnaire was designed for the purpose of the research and it covered the following areas: general social and demographic variables, sexual rights and reproductive health, sexual behavior including risky sexual behavior, sexual violence, motives for engaging into sexual relationships, and feedback.

Data collection lasted from the end of November 2006 until the beginning of March 2007. Collected data enabled us insight in various aspects of sexuality, sexual behavior, reproductive health and safe sex practices, as well as sexual violence in regards to gender perspective. Numerous indicators were obtained that indicate strong presence of patriarchal model in the youth's perceptions. These results were surprising at first, but the fact remains that this is very sensitive topic that requires constant attention, and the research conducted is just the beginning not only to establish the current situation but also to offer directions and issues that need attention for further research.

Results of the research were presented at the 15th Annual Conference of Psychologists in Cavtat in November 2007. Research was presented within the scope of Symposium Sexuality and Health (organized and facilitated by Maja Mamula, MA)

3.3. Counseling services

During 2007, we have continued with enlarging capacities of counseling work of Women's Room.

Counseling services are provided to women who survived rape, sexual assault and/or sexual harassment, as well as to persons that seek information and support in the area of sexual rights and sexual health.

Types of support and assistance we offer are: information, counseling (psychological, medical, legal) and psychotherapy according to the needs. Means of work are through telephone, in person in our space, via email or via mail. Specifically educated expert team works in the Counseling center that is comprised of: psychologists, psychotherapists, medical practitioner and lawyer. When needed, we can bring other experts willing to provide support and knowledge.

During 2007, 115 counseling sessions have been held and 91 person requested support and assistance. Number of in person sessions was the highest (70), followed by the ones via email and via mail (25) and telephone sessions (20).

The most frequent topics revolved around combination of issues (38.5%), sexual violence (23%), family violence (17.6%), and sexual problems (12.1%), while other categories, such as different information and consultations (4.4%) and other forms of violence (4.4%) were less represented.

To the largest extent, counseling was sought by persons who needed assistance and support themselves (87%), family of the person needing assistance and support (6%), their friends (3%), other nongovernmental organizations (10%), or other people such as acquaintances, nongovernmental organizations (3%) and others (1%).

According to types of counseling, the most prevalent forms of counseling were face-to-face counseling and/or psychotherapy work (53%), counseling over email (14%), phone counseling – short (13%), phone counseling – long (over 30 min) (9%), and other types (mail and similar) (3%). It is interesting to stress that the number of received feedback from clients has been on the rise during 2007 (8%).

3.5 Public work, networking and lobbying

During 2007, Women's Room continued its work in the field of networking, public advocacy and systematic public work through our daily activities and presence in media (Attachment no. 3).

Women's Room's members have participated in 57 international and local conferences and/or meetings, thematic sessions, working meetings or promotions that were organized by local and/or international organizations or governmental bodies.

3.5.1 Networks, teams, working groups, coalitions (57 meetings and actions)

Women's Room is actively participating in the work of few networks (Women's Network of Croatia, PETRA Network), in the Working group for development of the analysis and plan of action for combating all forms of violence against women, in Civil Coalition «Stop high-risk sexual education», in the Organizing Committee of Zagreb Pride and in the Operational team for combating trafficking in human beings.

We have participated in the work of Women's Network of Croatia (ŽMH) at 13 different actions, events, meetings, including annual assembly of ŽMH (Daruvar, 28.-30.09.2007.) and three-day meeting of the broader coordinators' meeting (Mali Lošinj, 05 – 08.07.2007.). Since its establishment, Women's Room has been an active member of ŽMH which can be testified through participating in joint projects (for example, Feminist Summer School 1-5) and actions (for example, celebrating March 8).

In the scope of PETRA Network, Women's Room's members participated in 4 regular meetings, as well as the meetings with competent institutions. Also in 2007, PETRA Network signed a Memorandum of Understanding with the Office for Human Rights of the Government of Croatia through which cooperation between national coordination team and nongovernmental organizations working on combating trafficking in human beings finally became formalized.

There were 8 meetings held in the scope of the Working group for developing analysis and plan of action for combating all forms of violence against women. Two members of Women's Room participate in the work of this group, one of them Maja Mamula who coordinates the Working group and Ivana Dijanic Plasc who participates in meetings. We work actively on all three aims of the working group:

a) as a part of the Analysis of existing situation in regards to violence against women with the emphasis on all forms of violence except family violence we gather data from ŽMH members and other SOS phones and Counseling services about the number of clients, forms of violence and similar. Apart from that, we work on the analysis of the existing mechanisms for protection of victims, and establishing existence of specific education for relevant professions.

b) as a part of Development of action plan for combating all forms of violence against women we collect suggestions from other nongovernmental organizations and combine them with recommendations from Women's Room and other bodies and institutions and try to include them into main areas of the Action plan.

c) as a part of the Development of Code of conduct in cases of sexual violence Women's Room gave the most significant contribution. We organized 2 meetings of the Network of cooperation between governmental institutions and nongovernmental organization against sexual violence, in which some of the members of the Working group participated. The work revolved around previously prepared draft of the Code of conduct in cases of sexual violence that was prepared by Women's Room's members. We also held a regional meeting about sexual violence (23.-25.09.2007.) thanks to CARE North West Balkans where the Code of conduct was reviewed and commented on by representatives of nongovernmental organizations that actively work on the issues of sexual violence. A lot of useful ideas for the Action plan was gathered. Since October until now, meetings of the Working group has actively worked on the Code of conduct with specific emphasis on the role of each competent institution. Although at times it seems that this process is very slow, we can notice some progress and final product of the Working group could be extremely useful. This cooperation of nongovernmental organizations and governmental institutions is extremely interesting and useful because we are working together on concrete cases and examples which will make the Code of conduct the most functional.

Women's Room participates in Civil coalition «Stop high-risk sexual education», through participating in working meetings (7 in 2007) and implementing joint activities: analysis of the program of the association Grozd, analysis of the Government's policies, press conferences, collecting support and opinions about the program of the association Grozd from Ombudsperson for Children, Ombudsperson for Gender Equality, domestic and international experts, organization of the Week about sexual education held from 26. – 31.03.2007 (public forums/round tables for youth in towns of Croatia); lobbying, open letters to the president of Croatia, president of the Croatian government and minister of the Ministry of Science, Education and Sport as well as collective complaint against Republic of Croatia to the European Committee on Social Rights.

In 2007, Jelena Postic participated in organizing 3 initial meetings of the LGBTIQ Coordination of Croatia which were held from March through July and in the Organizing Committee of Zagreb Pride which was held on July 7, 2007 for which preparation involved around 20 meetings.

Women's Room also has a representative Dunja Bonaci Skenderović in the Operational Team of the National Committee for combating trafficking in human beings that held 5 meetings during 2007. Agenda of these meetings covered discussions about new cases of trafficking, solving issues related to identification of victims of trafficking and providing assistance and protection as well as activities of institutions and nongovernmental organizations in this field.

Women's Room participated in the work of the regional conference organized by NWB that took place in May 2007 in Brijuni. Conference was facilitated by Maja Mamula, while Dunja Bonacci Skenderovic participated in the conference.

In October 2007, regional conference of the European network against trafficking in human beings was held in Lecce, Italy. Conference was held as an introduction into project in which Women's Room is a partner organization and Dunja Bonacci Skenderovic presented situation related to trafficking in human beings in the Republic of Croatia.

Out texts, comments and interviews were published in 16 daily newspapers and/or magazines (for example Večernji list «Sexual violence in Croatia» 01.03.2007.). we participated in 8 TV shows (for example TV PINK BiH, «Forbidden forum – women's sexuality», 13.09.2007.) and in 4 radio shows. 3.6 Organizational development of Women's Room

Development of Women's Room is defined by Strategic plan of Women's Room 2006-2009 as well as by current Operational plan of Women's Room for 2007.

During 2007, members of Women's Room participated in 17 expert educations related to areas of Women's Room's work.

In December 2007, a organizational development workshop was held Organizational values for members of the Coordination team.

During the same month, strategic planning of Women's Room for 2008 was held where decision was made that Women's Room will base its work in 2008 on the two main areas of work:

2. Sexual rights, women's sexuality and sexual and gender minorities' rights

This recommendation was adopted at the Elective annual assembly of Women's Room which was also held in December 2007. Also, decision on new Coordination Team of the organization was made and the new Team it is comprised of:

- Maja Mamula, president of the Coordination Team
- Voljana Kapelina, coordinator of organizational finances
- Dunja Bonacci Skenderovic, coordinator of the Sexual Violence Program, including trafficking in women
- Ivana Dijanic Plasc, coordinator of the Sexual Rights, Women's Sexuality and Gender and Sexual Minorities Rights Program

4 WHERE ARE WE HEADING TO – PLANS OF WOMEN'S ROOM'S DEVELOPMENT

Women's Room will continue during the next year with systematic work on making Croatian society develop as a society of citizens with equal rights regardless of their gender, sex, age, religion, nationality, ethnicity, sexual orientation. In accordance with that, Women's Room continues with its numerous activities as well as with systematic lobbying through formal and informal contacts with institutions, politicians and public persons. We are continuing with participation in Working group for developing analysis and plan of action for combating all forms of violence against women, whose aim is among other things development of the Code of conduct in case of sexual violence. We will also continue supporting the work of the Network of governmental institutions and nongovernmental organizations against sexual violence, through organizing annual meetings.

After many years of work and lobbying, we will be opening at the beginning of 2008 Center for victims of sexual violence which is the first such specialized service not only in Croatia but in the entire region. The aim of opening this Center is providing assistance and support to women victims of sexual violence from the moment of reporting violence to competent institutions, counseling and therapy work for empowerment and dealing with traumatic experience to preparation for the court process. We are aware that in the beginning we will not be able to provide all of the mentioned services, especially the ones concerning accompanying clients to police and hospitals as well as participating in the court sessions. However, through furthering our work on organizational development and gathering all necessary means, we hope that in the near future we will be able to complete the work of the Center with all important services for victims of sexual violence.

We are continuing with the implementation of educational program through which Women's Room is recognized among the wider public as well as the work on lobbying for changes of political views that deal with mechanisms for protection of women's rights.

Women's Room will, as it has so far, work in the accordance with societal needs, visions and organizational capacities, basing its activities primarily on quality and dedication.
